You don't need a mentor to learn data science.

I have built data science products used by millions of people globally today.

I found a better alternative to a mentor 🚀

The hard truth;

Most data science professionals are very busy

Many might not even respond to your request for mentorship

Some will accept to be your mentor but won't be effective

Have you experienced this in the past?

The benefits;

You just found yourself an accountability partner

You will become disciplined even when you lack motivation

You now have someone to talk to when you have a challenge

Unlike a data science mentor,

A study partner can easily be gotten.

Start with:

- Your friend
- Your classmate
- Your co-worker
